RESEARCH IN SCIENCE & TECHNOLOGICAL EDUCATION

Volume 23, 2005

www.tandf.co.uk/journals

 Routledge
Taylor & Francis Group

Research in Science & Technological Education publishes original research from throughout the world dealing with science education and / or technological education. It publishes articles on psychological, sociological, economic and organisational aspects of science and technological education, as well as evaluation studies of curriculum development in these fields.

Its main aim is to allow specialists working in these areas the opportunity of publishing their findings for the benefit of institutions, teachers and students. It is hoped that the journal will encourage high quality research that will lead to more effective practices, behaviours and curricula in science and technology within educational establishments.

Call for Papers

Research in Science & Technological Education welcomes academic papers from any part of the world. The editor would particularly like to explore the following themes in future issues of the journal:

- Working Memory Space and Problem Solving
- Learning Styles
- Higher Education

Articles should not exceed 5000 words, and two copies should be submitted to Mr C. Botton (Editor), Science Education Centre, School of Education, University of Hull, Hull, HU6 7RX, UK.
